

American Roller Bearing Company makes heavy duty industrial class bearings that are used in a wide variety of industries throughout the world. Its bearings provide long in-service life from a rolling fatigue criterion, while also holding together structurally from impacts, overloads, and occasional high speed excursions. The design of every bearing has been optimized to this end.

In addition to providing a wide variety of American Roller Bearings products from stock, Bearings Limited is also able to supply the entire line directly from the manufacturer.
